

Task: switching from macro map to micro map:

After using this.router.navigate function in the app.component.ts and router-outlet in html:

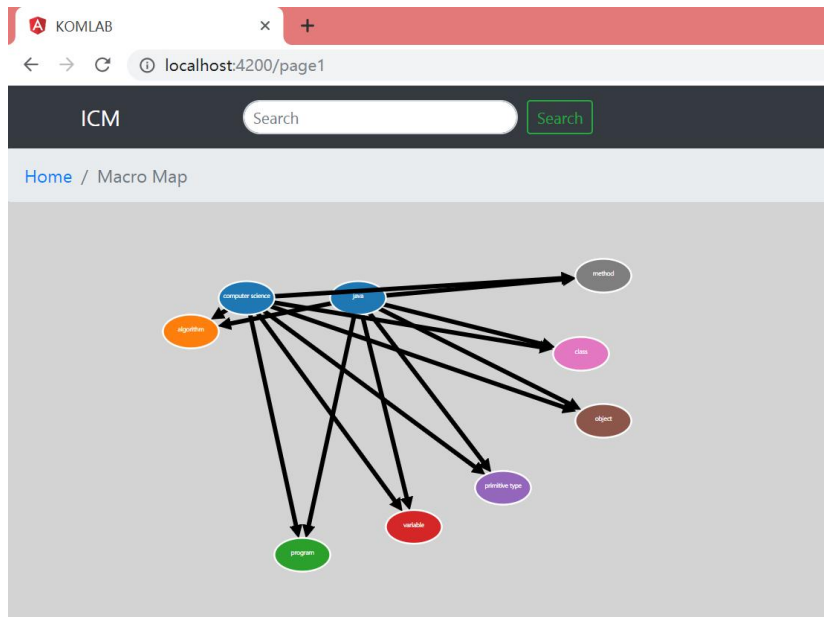

The original page:

After clicking on the concept, only arrows are missing:

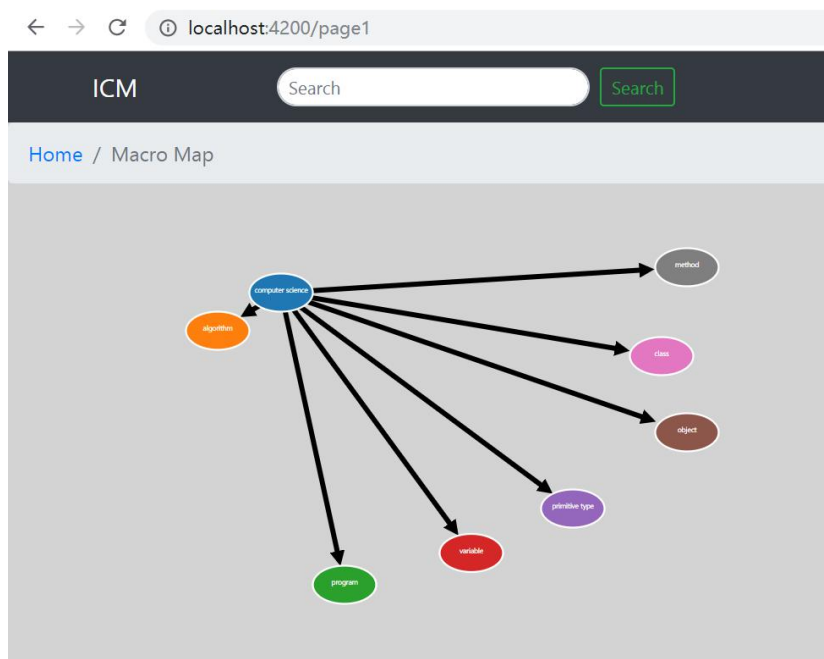

But there is a problem when directly go to page1:

Solution:

After outsourcing the code from app.component to a new component whose name is home.component, the page1 now has correct view:

After creating more nodes and the link words, with adjust on the padding of links, the micro map now looks like this:

